

April Zambelli-Weiner, class of 1993, earned Bachelor of Arts Degrees in Chemistry and English from Washington & Jefferson College in 1997, a Master of Public Health Degree from St. Louis University in 1999, and a Doctor of Philosophy Degree in Genetic Epidemiology/Human Genetics from Johns Hopkins University in 2003.

Dr. Zambelli-Weiner is a senior executive and scientist with over 10 years of experience in the design, conduct, and analysis of large population-based studies. She has top-level management experience with teams of researchers and business units.

In addition, Dr. Zambelli-Weiner has extensive knowledge of chemical and molecular laboratory methods. Her areas of expertise include genetic epidemiology, cancer, biostatistics, and environmental health.

Dr. Zambelli-Weiner has conducted extensive literature reviews as well as prepared manuscripts for peer-reviewed journals and presented research at national meetings.