

Charles W. McGary, class of 1947, earned a Bachelor of Science Degree in Chemistry from Westminster College in 1951 and a Doctorate in Physical-Organic Chemistry from Purdue University in 1954.

Dr. McGary began his career serving as a research chemist, group leader, associate director of R&D, technology manager, product manager, marketing manager, and international marketing manager with the Union Carbide Corporation. Later, Dr. McGary worked for the Riverain Corporation as the Vice-President of Research where he managed programs on hypoallergenic polyurethane surgeons' gloves and polyurethane catheters.

In addition, Dr. McGary worked for the Warner Lambert Company where he served as the Director of Technical Programs. Dr. McGary retired in 1993 and is currently serving as a consultant.

Throughout his distinguished career, Dr. McGary has invented and co-invented over 70 United States patents. In addition, Dr. McGary has published multiple articles and participated in several technical societies including the American Chemical Society.